Sir,

With reference to your letter No.J.478/Cts.37-12-1 dated 14th August 1912, requesting me to submit recommendation for the reconstitution of the Bench Court, Bangalore City, I have the honor to forward herewith a statement showing the number of cases and persons dealt with by the Bench Court together with the number of Benches that sat at different -- intervals since the commencement of the introduction of the scheme i.e.from 8th November 1909. From a perusal of the statement it is evident that the Honorary Magistrates have discharged their duties very satisfactorily and have shown considerable interest to make the scheme a success. At the commencement, the Court was empowered to entertain cases relating to Municipal and Vaccination Regulations and Bye-laws only and non cognizable cases falling under the Penal Code, entertained by the City Magistrate, were being referred by me to the Bench Court for trial and disposal. In February 1911, the Bench Court was empowered to entertain complaints of offences under sections 323, 352, and 504 of the Indian Penal Code and again in February 1912, the Bench Court was authorized to take cognizance of cases falling under sections 355 and 426 of the I.P.C. It is represented by the Honorary Magistrates that there is still not sufficient work for them and the question of empowering them to take connizances of all the remaining offences mentioned in section 261 Criminal Procedure Code is under consideration.The -- Bench Court besides removing congestion of cases in the City --

City Magistrates' Court has been rendering valuable service to the City Municipality by disposing of Municipal cases sooner than the City magistrate could be expected to dispose them of. I therefore request that the scheme which is now a tentative one may be made permanent

Sir,

With reference to your letter No.G.1057-cts83-12-2 dated 7th October 1912 requesting a report upon the working of the Bench at Mysore, I have the honor to submit herewith extracts from the reports of Administration of Criminal Justice submitted during the years 1910-11 and 1911-12 to the Hon'ble Chief Court of Mysore and to state as follows:-

The Bench was originally composed of 10 Magistrates and subsequently augmented by 2 more Magistrates. It was also invested with special powers specified in Section 265 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and as such was afforded every facility for prompt disposal of business on the Bench.

The Magistrates, whenever called on to serve, placed their services readily at the disposal of the Bench and at no time was its working disturbed to any the slightest extent.

They have all continued to work with zeal and earnestness and their judgments are characterized by a sense of fairness and impartiality.

As regards the number of cases they have tried since the formation of the Bench the enclosed statement shows that the Bench was a useful adjunct to the City Court and to a considerable degree helped to relieve the congestion in the court court of the City Magistrate, which would otherwise have hampered the trial of most important cases.

Under these circumstances the permanent continuance of the Court may kindly be ordered.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

District Magistrate

Mysore District.

S.V.S.

Extract from the report of administration of criminal justice for the year 1909-10.

Before the report is concluded it is not out of place to offer some remarks about the working of the Bench Court newly constituted for the city of Mysore during the year.

It is composed of 10 magistrates some of whom are retired Assistant commissioners. Three magistrates sit together as a Bench for the trial of cases and hold their court on every alternate days. One of them is selected as chairman who records evidence and judgment on their behalf. The function of chairman has been exercised alternately by the 2 retired Assistant commissioners Messrs B and C. Krishnarows.

They have tried petty offences under the Indian and Penal code and the Municipal Regulation arising within the city of Mysore. The trial of cases in this court is characterized by promptitude and reflects much credit upon the magistrates concerned. The Summary powers with which they are invested are, as already referred to an advantage in their favor.

In view to give some relief to the present magistrates by reducing the period of their sitting from 3 to 2 months at a time it has been proposed to add a few more Members to the existing number. The matter is under consideration of the Government.

Extract from the Report of Administration of Criminal Justice in the Mysore District during the year 1910-1911.

13. I may conclude the report by saying a word or two about the working of the Bench of Honorary Magistrates constituted at Mysore on 23-11-1909. The number of Special Magistrates was on the representation of this court increased from 10 to 12 and this has facilitated the speedy disposal of cases not to speak of the convenience it has afforded to the magistrates to serve on the Bench at fixed intervals.

14. The trial of cases on the Bench is characterised by fairness and promptitude and the magistrates have worked with zeal earnestness for which they have been thanked by Government in their review on the Administration Report of the criminal justice of the previous year which has been duly communicated to them. It is gratifying to note that some of the magistrates complain of want of sufficient work which is a sure sign of their having taken real interest in the honorary work assigned to them

Extract of 1911-12.

The Bench of Honorary Magistrates at Mysore has disposed of nearly 150 cases leaving but 6 cases pending at the close of the year. The trial is also characterised by a greater promptitude and reflects is no small measure great credit to the gentleman that composed the Bench. The prompt response to the calls from time to time for their services and their zeal and devotion to work is indeed worthy of special mention. The Government have recently sanctioned a monthly conveyance allowance of Rs 30/- in the case of every Honorary Magistrate who is also the Chairman for the time being. Their tenure of appointment will expire by the end of November next and steps are being taken for the election of new Magistrates.
